

Martin Lampl
M.D.T.

Martin Lampl is a master dental technician from Austria, practicing 3rd generation dentistry with experience of more than 30 years.

Together with his brother Stephan Lampl he built the perfect team in developing treatment solutions and lecturing in the field of bio-esthetic and functional dentistry as well as full mouth / CMD rehabilitation.

Due to their experience and wide ranging of documented clinical cases, they founded edelweiss dentistry and invented the edelweiss system to bring tomorrow's better dentistry of today.

«The difference lies in the high similarity with nature»

Like all great inventions made at the basement in the likes of the late Steve Jobs or Bill Gates, the story of another brilliant inventor who hails from Wolfurt, Austria has conquered the dental industry with the rise of edelweiss dentistry. Since its launch, edelweiss has been known to pioneer the only direct veneering system that has overcome the disadvantages of organic fillers that are commonly used in composite veneers. Using the laser sintered concept invented by Dr. Stephan Lampl, CEO and Founder of edelweiss dentistry, this technology has surpassed the bounds of composite failure rates, thereby obtaining greater aesthetics and function.

Bordering genius, Dr. Stephan Lampl is one of the most celebrated man today in the dental profession claiming the first and only laser sintered prefabricated veneering system that surpasses patient expectations using simple and controlled clinical procedures.
